With an SGA, if the leakage of gases results in inadequate ventilation, stop the compressions u ventilation using a 30:2 compression-ventilation ratio. To convert atrial or ventricular The shock should be synchronized to occur with the electrocardiogram (ECG) R wave. Shocks with a single stop chest compression and minimize pra'shock and pa's-shock pause. Lydia No 100 mg IV (IO) can be used as an alternative if amiodarone is not available or a local decision has been taken to use lidocana instead of amiodarone. Anterolateral position The position of choice for the initial placement of the pad. If an advance is needed, only rescuers with a high success rate of tracheal intubation should use the tracheal intubation. Consider amiodarone for acute control of the ¼ frequency in patients with AF with hemodialysis and severely reduced left ventricular ejection fraction (LVEF). Start the ALS as early as possible. For bradycardia caused by a lower myocardial infarction, a card transplant or bone marrow transplant, consider giving aminophylline (100 mg slow intravenous injection). The use of shocks of atÁ© trÁnas piles can be considered only if initial ventricular fibrillation/pulse-free ventricular tachycardia (VF/PVT) occurs during a witnessed card stop and monitored with an immediately available defibrillator, for example, during card cateterization or in a High Depth Area. Do not atropine to patients with cardHand transplants can cause a high degree AV block or even sinus-use aminophylline stop. For atrial flutter and paroxAtic supraventricular tachycardia: These guidelines followed European and international guidelines for the treatment of periapical arrhythmias. Hospitals should enable all staff to ask for help when identifying a patient at risk of ³ deterioration. Tachycardia cardiovers are the preferred treatment for tachyarrhythmia in the instable patient, exhibiting potentially life-threatening adverse signs. Add digoxin if necessary. Emergency Systems Mother Tip (SGA) must consider the application of criteria for retention and termination of the resurrection (RPT), taking into account the legal context , specific local organizational and cultural (see the guidelines are. Tam'rax mechanical compressive devices consider mechanical compressions of the tam.The identification of individuals with hereditary diseases and the tracking of members of FamamÁlia can help prevent deaths in young people with inherited cards. The management of cardan stop in patients with known covid-19 or suspicion is not specifically included in the present guidelines, but is covered by the separated guidelines over Covid-19, which can be consulted in Sadio RCUK WEB. Debriefing Use Data -oriented Debriefing, centered on rescue team performance to improve CP quality and patient results. Effect of reanivision education on the patient's outcome we suggest that the health systems ensure that staff with the duty to provide ALS RCUK Provider Training (see the education guidelines o) Hospitals must have a resurrection team that immediately responds to the cardan arrest in the hospital (HCA). Adult patients with a cardany of the presumed printage cardian etiology should be transported directly to a hospital with a coronary angiography capacity 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. TROMOLONIC MEDICINAL PROCEDURE CONSIDER PHARMACOLATIC TROMBOBOLATIC THEORATE When pulmonary embolism is suspected or confirmed as a cause of cardan arrest. Do not use pocus to evaluate the contractility of myocance as a section to end the DRC. In the case of refractive PV, consider using an alternative position of the defibrillation insert (e.g. anterior- posterior). Shock as early as possible when appropriate. Hospitals shall use one runway and one NOTICE SCHEDULE SYSTEM FOR EARLY IDENTIFICATION OF PATIENTS THAT IS RECORDLY SICKLY OR ADVANCED SCHOOL. Fluids provide IV fluids (IO) only when the cardan arrest is caused or possibly caused by hypovolemia. Peri-own arrhythmias The evaluation and treatment of all arrhythmias address the condition of the patient (stable versus unable) and the nature of arrhythmia. There is a greater recognition that patients with cardan arrest inside and outside the hospital are premonital signs and that many of these prsies can be avoidable. For atrial fibrulation: an initial synchronized shock in the mother's mother's exit, instead of a growing approach, is a reasonable strategy based on current data. If cardioversion fails to restore the sinus rhythm and the patient remains unconnect, dáº an amiodarone 300 mg intravenously above 10 à € 20 minutes (or Procainamide 10-15 mg kg-1 in 20 minutes) and reappear the cardioversion. In the absence of any clear evidence for the initial energy and subsequent ideals, any power within this interval is acceptable to the initial shock, followed by a fixed or growing strategy to the mother defibrillator. The recurring or refractory VF considers the shock energy to scale, a failed shock and for patients where the reffibrillation occurs. Consider intraaless access (IO) if attempts to access IV are not successful or the access is not viable. Young adults with characteristic symptoms of arrhythmic somncope should have a specialized assessment in cardiology, which should include an electrocardiogram (ECG) and, in most cases, echocardiography and exercise testing. For ventricular tachycardia with a pulse: use no power of 120-150 J for the initial shock. Conscious patients require anesthesia or sedation before trying to synchronized cardioversial. The strategy of defibrillation continues the RCP a defibrillator is recovered and the applied pillows.
